BIRMINGHAM

Britain's Second City

Home of over 1500 different trades, Birmingham is one of the world's most famous manufacturing centres. Its products, in an endless variety of articles both mass-produced and craftsman-fashioned, carry Birmingham's name and high reputation to all corners of the earth.

Fortunate in its geographical situation, Birmingham is on the threshold of some of England's loveliest countryside, as for instance, the historic Shakespeare country around Stratford, the mellow Cotswold Hills and the lush beauty of the Severn Valley. Truly a city where countryside and commerce meet.
